Homes University Training Program

As of 2019, Resideo is expanding Homes University to offer separate trainings for Distributors and Contractors. Our two distinct training programs are tailored to the specific information about Honeywell Home products needed by each role.

The courses are taught by Honeywell Home technical product specialists, HVAC industry experts, and Resideo Sales Representatives. Courses include lecture-discussion, hands-on lab exercises, and advanced multimedia presentations designed to maximize effective learning.

COURSE WORK

Customers attending Homes University will experience a Honeywell Home dedicated training. They'll gain context for how our product families work together and how providing Honeywell Home solutions can increase their bottom line. Customers will leave with a greater understanding of Honeywell Home products and how to provide their customers with a fully-connected solution.

COURSE HIGHLIGHTS

RedLINK™ Solutions

RedLink is a flagship name in the Honeywell Home family of solutions. Discover a broad range of the RedLINK products and installation specifics, designed to enhance the homeowner experience.

Indoor Air Quality and Applications

Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) offers comfort and control for the home. Learn how Honeywell Home dehumidification, humidification, ventilation, filtration and UV systems can safeguard and bring the home back into control.

Fundamentals of Water

Explore the Honeywell Home line of hydronic and potable water products. From hydronic heating controls to mixing valves, experience technical training on Honeywell Home's complete Water Solutions portfolio - including an inside look at the product.

Connected Solutions – T Series Family

The T Series is a portfolio of both Wi-Fi and non-connected thermostats that streamline every process, from product selection and installation to customer service and support. With a standard footprint and simple interface, the T Series enhances the entire thermostat experience for contractors, dealers and homeowners.

Awareness

Bring a sense of safety and peace-of-mind to homeowners with Honeywell Home's awareness lineup. Each product is easy to install and provides homeowners greater awareness to ongoing activity in their homes.

Residential Thermal Solutions

An overview of the Honeywell Home Universal parts — learn about air- and water-heating appliances from HVAC experts.

Applied Zoning

Discover product and technical training on Honeywell Home's complete Zoning portfolio, covering multiple scenarios. Review zone panels, dampers and complete systems kits through hands-on labs. Experience firsthand how easy zoning can be.
